

Ending a session

Ending a session

Turning off the system

You can use several methods to quit the NED StartUp program and turn off your system. The following instructions explain the recommended method.

1. Return to the Main Menu in the RTP system.
2. Press ⌘-Q , or select Quit from the File menu.

After a few moments, the window closes and the titles in the menu bar change.

3. Select Shut Down from the Special menu.

The terminal screen becomes dark and the terminal is turned off automatically.

4. Lift the floppy drive lever and remove the Winchester Bootload disk.
5. Turn off the power switch.

The Synclavier software is no longer active.

Restarting the NED StartUp program

You can quit the NED StartUp program, and turn off the terminal or use it for another application without turning off the Synclavier. If you have not turned off the power, you can restart the NED StartUp program without rebooting the Synclavier.

- If the terminal is on, select Restart from the Special menu. Otherwise, press the Power On key on the terminal keyboard.

A chord sounds, the screen shows the New England Digital logo and the NED StartUp menu titles appear.

If you restart after quitting from an RTP display, the Main or Welcome Menu appears on the screen. Otherwise, the screen that was displayed when you quit the program reappears.